

Statement of the Alliance for Home Dialysis
Re: H.R. 8319, the KIDNEY Remote Monitoring Act

April 2026

Digital tools like telehealth and remote patient monitoring enable clinicians to proactively identify issues and treat patients dialyzing at home. These tools can reduce complications, prevent unnecessary emergency care, and keep patients connected to their care team. That means greater confidence, security, and support for patients.

The Alliance for Home Dialysis thanks Reps. Yakym, Schneider, Miller-Meeks, and Dingell for introducing this important legislation to expand access to digital tools for patients with end-stage renal disease.

Every patient deserves the chance to make an informed choice, with their care team, about the treatment that best meets their needs, including home dialysis. This bill supports that choice by expanding access to tools that empower patients, strengthen care at home, and support the clinicians who care for them.
